SIDECAR HISTORY

Speedway Sidecar racing has a long and proud history here in Western Australia.

More than 90 years ago the first meeting was held at the Claremont Speedway Saturday May 14, 1927 and featured motorcycle racing plus a car race that turned out to be rather boring.

After two daytime shows a £2,000 lighting system was installed for the official opening on Saturday September 10, 1927.

Before that meeting a conference between the Claremont promoter Mr. John S. Hoskins and officials of the WA Motor Cycle Association decided to allow Sidecar passengers to compete. Apparently in some other states passengers were banned from competing for safety reasons - replaced with sand or ballast.

Five Sidecar outfits were nominated for the first night show where an estimated 20,000 fans watched them contest the two-mile (5 laps) handicap with £10 in prizemoney on the line.

The heat races were won by Harry Elsdon (A.J.S.) and Gil Ford (Chater Lea) with the final going to Elsdon over Bill Page (Ariel) and Ford.

No mention of the passenger's name was made in the newspaper reports of the day.

Sidecars continued to race at the Royal Agricultural Society Showground circuit right up until its closure on March 31, 2000.

Although the WA Solo Championship dates from the very first season at Claremont, the first state title for the Sidecar brigade was not held until the 1950-51 season.

Run on a handicap format, the inaugural WA Sidecar Championship saw Wal Sigley/Brian Adams defeat Tiny Robinson/Ray Duncan and Horrie Payne/Ernie Noyce.

Over the years many great riders have been crowned the WA Champion – including interstaters Jimmy Davies (NSW) and South Australians Harry Denton, Max Cunningham, Neil Munro, Len Bowes and Trent Headland.

Best of the local brigade has been Dennis Nash with a record 10 state title wins.

Present day competitor Russell Mitchell has taken out the WA crown on 7 occasions, with Glenn O'Brien next best on 5 and Mark Drew on 4.

That quartet has also all won the Australian Sidecar Championship too.

Nash and O'Brien 5 times each, Drew 2 and Mitchell 1.

It will be the seventh time that the best riders in the country will head over here to decide who is #1
